

Coronavirus (COVID-19) is a respiratory illness that can easily spread from person to person.

During this time of the coronavirus pandemic, everyone should be self-monitoring, practicing good hygiene, and practicing social distancing.

Ending Isolation

For those testing positive for COVID-19, or for those experiencing symptoms of COVID-19 and are awaiting test results

Patients who tested positive for COVID-19, or who are having symptoms and are awaiting test results may discontinue isolation when:

- At least 10 days since symptoms first appeared AND
- At least 24 hours with no fever without fever-reducing medication

AND

- Symptoms have improved

If you do not have symptoms, but test positive, you can be with others after:

- 10 days have passed since the date of your positive test
